The world's leading trade fair BAU sets standards. It is the industry's most important gathering. Everyone involved in planning, building and designing buildings is represented here. BAU is where exhibitors present their products and innovations in an international dimension: for commercial and residential construction and interior work for both new-build and renovation and modernization.

Key themes for the future of building

The four key themes chosen for BAU 2019 are the ones that are setting the pace in the building industry—and also bringing structure to the wide variety of products and solutions at the show. Many exhibitors will be organizing their presentations accordingly and highlighting their solutions in these areas. In the forums at the fair different aspects of the key themes will be explored and discussed. And in the special shows, they will be illustrated through product and project examples.

Digital: Processes + Architecture

Connected: Living + Working
